

WELL-BEING WEEK IN LAW

PARTICIPATION & ACTIVITY GUIDES

Worksheets, Activities, & Tips for Holistic Well-Being | Updated April 7, 2022

IDEAS FOR PARTICIPATING IN WELL-BEING WEEK IN LAW

Legal Employer Participation Guide 2022 >> Link

Gives many options for readings, videos, podcasts, and activities for WWIL and all year-round.

What's Working Well in Law Firm Well-Being Programs? >> Link

Download this collection of 7 brief profiles of law firms recognized for progress on their well-being programs asked to identify factors supporting their success.

What Went Well: Highlights from Past Well-Being Weeks >> Link

Many law firms have had great ideas for participating in Well-Being Week. To get our ideas percolating for Well-Being Week in Law (WWIL) 2022, we can look back at some of those highlights.

46 Activity Ideas for Well-Being Week >> Link

This Guide offers more ideas to ignite your brainstorming about participation in Well-Being Week in Law.

INDIVIDUAL WELL-BEING ACTIVITY GUIDES

Physical Well-Being: Stay Strong: Striving for regular activity, good diet and nutrition, enough sleep and recovery. Limit addictive substances and seek help for physical health when needed.

Get Moving Activity Guide >> Link

Regular physical activity (at least 150 minutes per week) is essential for mental and physical health—and all types of movement count. The Get Moving Activity Guide offers ideas for moving more while working and in our lives and recommends trying new activities to boost fun and motivation.

4-7-8 Breathing Exercise Activity Guide >> Link

The way you breathe (yep, breathe!) may be making you anxious. Learn stress-calming techniques in the 4-7-8 Breathing Exercise Activity Guide.

Desk Yoga Activity Guide >> Link

The exercises in this activity will enable physical and psychological recharging and can easily fit into your daily routine.

Spiritual Well-Being: Align: Fostering a sense of meaningfulness and purpose in work and life, and aligning your work and life with your values, goals, and interests.

Take an Awe Walk Activity Guide >> Link

Boost the meaningfulness of your everyday stroll by following the instructions in the Awe Walk Activity Guide.

Aligning With Your Values Activity Guide >> Link

Spiritual Well-Being involves cultivating a sense of meaning and purpose in work and life and aligning our work and lives with our values, goals, and interests. Chronic misalignment between our values and behaviors can contribute to disengagement, burnout, anxiety, and depression. Use this Activity Guide individually or in teams to identify your core values and ways to align those values with your work and personal life.

Use Your Strengths For Growth Activity Guide >> Link

Understanding your strengths can help you handle stress and challenges, become happier, and master goals. Understanding colleagues' strengths can create resilient and cohesive teams and develop relationships in and out of the office.

Personal Mission Statement Activity Guide >> Link

This Guide will help you create a personal mission statement by tuning into your aspirations and unique strengths and leveraging them to create positive action towards your goals.

Values Challenge Activity Guide >> Link

This Activity Guide invites us to assess our core values and plan to integrate them more into our daily lives. Values represent our truest desires for the way we want to interact with and relate to the world, other people, and ourselves. When we are connected to our values, they serve as an inner compass or GPS. When we live in alignment with our values, it contributes to purpose, satisfaction, fulfillment, and overall well-being.

Career & Intellectual Well-Being: Engage & Grow: Seeking personal satisfaction, continuous learning and growth in our professional and personal lives, and financial stability. Engaging in creative or intellectually challenging activities that foster ongoing development and monitoring cognitive wellness.

Writing for Well-Being >> Link

Expressive writing, reflective writing, journaling, and freewriting all describe writing practices that can help us sort out our experience and organize and verbalize our thoughts. Much research has found that it can result in many positive outcomes and improvements to your quality of life—including positive effects on mental health and personal and professional development.

Job Crafting Activity Guide >> Link

Job crafting is a continual activity in which we seek to create a better fit between our strengths, values, and preferences and our work. To try it out, follow the instructions in the Job Crafting Activity Guide.

Get Into Flow with Creativity Activity Guide >> Link

Left-brained-logic-loving lawyers and other legal professionals may overlook the rejuvenating force of creativity. Much research shows that everyday creativity can boost health and happiness. The Activity Guide recommends choosing creative activities that align with who you are, are absorbing and challenging, and enables you to disconnect from stressful thoughts.

Use Your Strengths For Growth Activity Guide >> Link

Understanding your strengths can help you handle stress and challenges, become happier, and master goals. Understanding colleagues' strengths can create resilient and cohesive teams and develop relationships in and out of the office.

Wheel of Professional Development Activity Guide >> Link

The Wheel of Professional Development is a simple but powerful tool that helps you visualize important aspects of your professional development at once. The Wheel can help you to better understand which aspects are flourishing and which ones need the most work.

Social Well-Being: Connect: Building connection, belonging, and a reliable support network. Contributing to our groups and communities.

Community Service Blood Drive Activity Guide >> Link

This Activity Guide provides instructions for organizing a virtual or onsite American Cross Blood Drive at a time when the U.S. is experiencing record-level blood shortages. Community service or volunteering is associated with health and well-being benefits for volunteers, including less anxiety, depression, and loneliness and greater happiness, life satisfaction, self-esteem, confidence, purpose, and meaning.

Loving-Kindness Meditation Activity Guide >> Link

Loving-kindness meditation is a practice in which we mentally send goodwill, kindness, and warmth towards others, which builds a foundation for pro-social behaviors. It is also linked to many psychological benefits, including greater positive emotions and reduced depression, anxiety, stress, and loneliness.

Connecting Over Things in Common Activity Guide >> Link

We often share more in common with others than what meets the eye. Getting beyond the surface attributes and gaining a better understanding of the experiences, identities, and other aspects of our lives that we share with our colleagues can help us bridge differences and work together more effectively. Try it out by doing the exercise in this Activity Guide.

Meaningful Connections Through Movies Activity Guide >> Link

Movies have many layers that shape people’s experience in ways that can influence well-being—including fostering social connection. This Activity Guide provides ideas for creating a Movie Club that facilitates meaningful connections.

Grow Your Gratitude Activity Guide >> Link

Gratitude is defined as a sense of thankfulness and joy in response to receiving a gift. Multiple studies have found the positive power of gratitude for fostering social connection, pro-social behaviors, and mental well-being. Try out different ways of practicing gratitude to bolster social connection and well-being.

Lessen Loneliness Activity Guide >> Link

Inside and outside the legal profession, loneliness is a growing threat to mental health. Many science-backed, practical strategies may prevent and alleviate symptoms of loneliness, and, in this Activity Guide, we offer a few for you to try.

Connect To Thrive Activity Guide >> Link

Includes activity ideas, templates, and materials to encourage legal professionals to experience connection and belongingness with others.

Upward Spiral Activity Guide >> Link

Includes activity ideas, templates, and materials to encourage legal professionals to experience connection and belongingness with others through positive ripple effects.

Make Kindness the Norm Activity Guide >> Link

Includes activity ideas, templates, and materials to encourage legal professionals to experience connection and belongingness with others through a kindness challenge.

Gratitude Challenge Activity Guide >> Link

Includes guidance to launch a gratitude challenge to lift individual feelings of optimism and thankfulness by cultivating a gratitude practice for 21 days.

Ripples of Kindness at Work & Home Activity Guide >> Link

This Activity Guide includes lists of ideas for everyday acts of kindness at work and home—including for siblings, parents, spouses/partners, colleagues, staff, and clients.

Emotional Well-Being: Feel Well: Valuing emotions, developing an ability to identify and manage emotions for health, to achieve goals, and to inform decisions. Seeking help for mental health when needed.

Vanquish Languishing Activity Guide >> Link

After reading the New York Times article by Brad Stulberg (You’ve Done Self-Care. You’ve Languished. Now Try This), take action using the Vanquishing Languishing Activity Guide. It offers guidance on how to use behavioral activation strategies to incorporate more enjoyable and valued activities into your life to foster greater engagement and vitality.

Retraining Unhelpful Thoughts Activity Guide >> Link

Learning to push back on automatic unhelpful thoughts that often flood our minds will help us feel better, enable us to intentionally choose that align with our goals and values, and protect our mental health. Try out two activities to help curb the negative effects of unhelpful thoughts in the Retraining Unhelpful Thoughts Activity Guide.

Savoring Positive Experiences Activity Guide >> Link

Intentionally engaging in thoughts and behaviors that heighten our good feelings about positive events is strongly related to mental health. It includes anything that generates, intensifies, or prolongs our enjoyment. This Activity Guide will help you assess your own savoring habits and make a plan for more savoring.

Self-Care Plan Activity Guide >> Link

This Guide provides steps to design your own individualized self-care plans based on Maslow's well-known theory of needs.

Managing Mental Health in the Workplace: Conversation Guide >> Link

Open communication about mental health can reduce stigma, break down barriers, and build trust—which, in turn, promotes long-term, positive behavioral change. The Conversation Guide provides basic tips to give supervisors and colleagues confidence to initiate such conversations.

Resilient Thinking Worksheet #1: 6 Steps to Tame Negative Emotions >> Link

A key insight from resilience research has been life-changing for many: Stress is not triggered by adverse external events but by our avalanche of thoughts, predictions, and interpretations that adverse events trigger. Resilient thinking starts with learning to separate our thoughts from the emotional and behavioral consequences of those thoughts and cultivating optimism.

Resilient Thinking Worksheet #2: Activities to Boost Positive Emotions >> Link

Many people (including many lawyers) face a lot of negativity in their daily lives. This makes it important to actively counter the harmful effects of negative emotions by actively bolstering positive emotions. People who more frequently experience positive emotions have better mental and physical health and are more successful and engaged at work. This worksheet suggests activities to foster more positive emotions in our everyday lives.

WORKPLACE WELL-BEING ACTIVITY GUIDES

Recognition & Rewards: Perceived efforts/contributions are fairly balanced with perceived rewards provided by the employer (e.g., compensation, esteem and social rewards, job security, career opportunities).

Strengths-Based Feedback Activity Guide >> Link

This Guide provides practical guidance for supervisors on delivering strengths-based feedback.

Balance: Our culture supports members ability to maintain good health and functioning while feeling fully engaged in and satisfied with their contributions to their work and families and themselves without perceiving too much conflict among those roles.

Aligning With Your Values Activity Guide >> Link

This Guide explains individual and team activities to identify one’s core values and ways to align those values with one’s work and personal life.

Effective Leadership: Our leaders positively impact organizational members’ well-being through their leadership style, creation of a psychologically healthy work culture, management of mental health matters in the workplace, and support for workplace well-being programs.

Effective Leaders: The Lynchpins of Workplace Well-Being >> Link

Leaders in their people supervisory roles make or break workplace cultures of well-being. A large body of research has found that supervisors with the most direct and frequent contact with employees have the biggest impact on their work experience—good or bad. In this white paper, Anne Brafford provides do-able, science-based activities and behaviors for supervisory lawyers to cultivate thriving teams. This “Cheat Sheet” provides specific examples of recommended behaviors.

Positive Leadership Development Activity Guide >> Link

Effective leadership is a key contributor to workplace well-being. This Guide provides multiple activities for starting down the path of leader development.

Inclusion: Our organizational members feel supported and valued for their unique, individual traits and talents; feel a sense of belonging; and have access to and feel fairly treated by the organization's structures and processes.

Enabling Lawyer Well-Being Through Diversity & Inclusion >> Link

The legal profession has placed a high priority on both DEI and workplace well-being—which are highly-interrelated. Whether work cultures support diverse legal professionals' well-being and ability to be their best will significantly influence whether they stay, advance, and achieve their potential. This article by Anne Brafford (2020) discusses strategies that serve both goals.

Connecting Over Things in Common Activity Guide >> Link

We often share more in common with others than what meets the eye. Getting beyond the surface attributes and gaining a better understanding of the experiences, identities, and other aspects of our lives that we share with our colleagues can help us bridge differences and work together more effectively.

Culture of Trust, Fairness & Transparency: Our work environment is characterized by the shared values of trust, honesty, transparency, and fairness.

Positive Leadership Panel Activity Guide >> Link

Guidance for organizing a panel of top leaders addressing issues related to trust, fairness, and transparency.